

The Nurse's Role in Palliative and End-of-Life Care Across the Lifespan

Thursday, October 20 8:30am to 4:30pm
Marriott West Hotel in Middleton, WI

This educational symposium will provide nurse educators, students, and practitioners from a variety of health care settings the opportunity to learn from nursing experts the latest trends in practice, education, research and policy impacting the role of the RN in the delivery of palliative and end-of-life care for all age groups. We will explore the importance of advanced directives and end-of-life decision making, and share personal strategies to assist patients and their loved ones to navigate these situations and make decisions as needed.

Posters and Project Representatives 7:30 am – 1:15 pm

This conference is an opportunity to share trends and best practices in Palliative and End of Life Care. Applications were accepted from the following groups to display posters showcasing the latest knowledge and current practices in Palliative and End of Life Care within their practice settings - we thank them for their willingness to share their expertise.

There will be project representatives available at each poster during break and lunch times – symposium participants are encouraged to visit as many displays as possible before the afternoon educational session begins.
