Wright, MSN, APNP, PMHNP-BC, CCHP-MH, CCHP-RN Nick Vander Bloomen, MSN, PMHNP, APNP Both are Psychiatric Mental Health NPs from WI DHS - Wisconsin Resource Center | This session will give a general overview of the 3 Clusters of personality disorders with focus on the Cluster B traits. Cluster B personality traits can be the most difficult to manage in a correctional setting. During the presentation there will be discussion on developing an understanding, managing, and maintaining a trauma informed approach. |
| 11:45 AM-12:30 PM | Lunch and Exhibits | |
| 12:30-1:30 PM | PLENARY SESSION 4 (1.0 contact hour) | |
| Positive Psychology: Tools for Self-Care and Burnout Prevention | Julia Persike, PsyD, CSAC - WisLAP Manager, State Bar of Wisconsin | Coined by Dr. Martin Seligman in 1998, Positive Psychology is defined as the scientific study of the strengths and virtues that allow individuals and communities to thrive (Seligman & Csikzentmihalyi, 2000). Rather than focus on what is broken or damaged, positive psychologists focus on personal strengths and individual merits. Participants will learn how to apply the original tenets of positive psychology - such as gratitude, happiness, humor, resilience, well-being, and positive thinking - to the development of self-care strategies and personal wellbeing goals. |
| 1:30-1:35 PM | Short Break | |
| 1:35-2:30 PM | PLENARY SESSION 5 (1.0 contact hour) | |
| The In's and Out's of Unusual Objects and Substances | Melissa S. Caldwell, PhD, CCHP-MH - President, Freedom Behavioral Health, Inc.. | In the correctional environment, mental health issues abound as a population health issue. A common, but not exclusive, problem that can impact the ability to care for patients in a safe and clean environment is the behavior of throwing or smearing feces. Upon further exploration, this presentation will visit both behavioral and involuntary aspects of PICA as well as volitional behavior and how to manage it. Case studies will be shared in detail to help learners work through differential diagnosis and treatment to maintain safety. |
| 2:30-2:45 PM | Break with dessert bars, popcorn, soda, and coffee | |

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2:45-3:20 PM | | PLENARY SESSION 6 | (0.6 contact hours) |
| Bad News Kills – ASQ About Suicide | Melissa S. Caldwell, PhD, CCHP-MH - President, Freedom Behavioral Health, Inc.. | Being incarcerated is stressful, and negative events can strip a person of hope and critical social support. Poor legal outcomes such as being denied bond or facing a sentence greater than expected can trigger feelings of hopelessness and despair. Receiving news that one’s marriage or other significant relationship is being severed can lead people to take their own lives. Jails routinely ask about suicide at booking, however, risk for suicide can occur at any point in confinement: especially after a stressful event. The key to suicide prevention in these cases is identifying when such events have occurred, asking about suicide, documenting and escalating concerns in a timely manner, and implementing suicide precautions. | |
| 3:20-4:00 PM | | PLENARY SESSION 7 | (0.9 contact hours including evaluation) |
| Real Talk: Dealing with Difficult Jail Staff | Jillian Bresnahan, PA-C, DBA, CCHP – Vice President of Medical Operations, Advanced Correctional Healthcare, Inc. | In this experiential training, learners will be introduced to techniques they can use to communicate with jail staff in times of crisis. Corrections can be a stressful environment in and of itself, and this can cause tension to develop between security and medical staff. The key takeaway is that relationships have the potential to strengthen through collaboration and partnership. | |
